Cuban Execution Volleys Echo in Mind of Witness

By LUIS DE CABO GARCIA
Written for UPI

SANTIAGO DE CUBA (UPI)—The shots from the firing squad rang out all morning and I heard an officer say, "Let's get this over with quick; I have a pain in my soul."

I felt the same way. I knew these men were murderers and deserved to be shot, but I couldn't help shuddering and identifying myself with them everytime the volley sounded.

AN ARMY OFFICER beckoned, and two prisoners advanced to a large trench at the end of the range. They stood in front of the trench as the firing squad got ready. An officer gave the word and six shots rang out.

The two bodies fell back into the grave, and a lieutenant peered in pistol in hand, ready to give the coup de grace, if necessary. I didn't feel well.

TWO MORE PRISONERS moved up to their grave. Again, six shots rang out and their bodies toppled back. Then two more and two more.

About 10 to 15 minutes separated each execution. A priest accompanied each pair of prisoners on the last march.

I saw one man, Lt. Despainne, chief of army provol cars in Santiago and a well-known murderer, go to his death like a hero. He was convinced of having killed 31 persons and I'm sure he killed many more. Everyone in Santiago hated and feared him.

HE WAS A REGULAR army man. He asked permission to direct his own execution and it was granted. He was the only man who went alone; all the others were in pairs.

He marched to the grave, faced the firing squad, called "Attention! Ready! Aim! Fire!" and fell dead into the grave.

When it was all over I had to drive some soldiers to town, then I put the bus away and went home. I had been up all night.

Mother wanted to feed me but I couldn't eat. I went to bed but couldn't sleep. I kept hearing shots.

I looked at the clusters of prisoners. Some were crying; some chatting; some nervously shifting their feet; some silent.

THERE WERE TWO buses and an army truck parked to one side when I got there. Mine was the last load. Later, I learned that shootings had begun at 4 a. m. When I got there it was about 5:30 and one of the July 26th officers told me 22 had already been shot.

I looked at the clusters of prisoners. Some were crying; some chatting; some nervously shifting their feet; some silent.

When the City Council was asked by persons in the audience to be heard in praise for the man who officially tendered his resignation at the council meeting, Bunker avoided controversial questions by ruling that the council did not have to disclose proceedings in closed sessions of the governing body.

Two COUNCILMEN, Mayor Frank Bogert and Councilwoman Ruth Hardy praised the city manager before accepting his resignation, but the balance of the council only entered their "yes" votes to accepting the resignation, which was asked for by the council following a special personnel session last week.

Rose Benjamin of 555 Via Las Palmas, brought about Bunker's ruling by asking "if it was true that they had requested Peterson's resignation." Before there was any chance for an answer, Bunker said, "The matters of the City are private to them under state law, and they are their own unless they care to divulge them."

The council gave no answer to the question.

AFTER ACCEPTING the city manager's resignation "under the terms of the letter," which said that the resignation would become effective as of March 1, the council said they wanted to relieve the city manager of his duties as of Feb. 1, but to continue his employment for an additional 45 days (to March 15) as a special consultant.

When Peterson was asked if he would consent to staying for the additional time, he declared, "If it is the wish of the council I will be glad to do so."

IT WAS SOME TIME later, under recommendations by the city manager, that Peterson announced the resignation of Director of Public Works Frank Hammerschlag "as an information item to the council." He read Hammerschlag's letter and then told the council that he wanted to investigate the letter in which Hammerschlag asked to be relieved of his duties by Feb. 1, and possibly come up with an extension of time for Hammerschlag, in order that the city engineer could clean up some of the work on his desk.

When persons in the audience stood one after another to praise the city manager, Peterson, who was visibly uneasy over the display, told the mayor that they had "a long agenda for the evening and we should get under way with it."

THE HOLDING firm will be called the St. Francis Hotel Corp. It will be operated by Western Hotels, Inc.

Bill Shields, vice president of Western now at the Oasis here, told The Desert Sun this morning that the amalgamation of the five would create a $25,000,000 corporation of the St. Francis chain.

"That makes it the largest hotel group on the West Coast," Shields declared. He said that plans are in process to add the Benjamin Hotel in Seattle to the chain, giving the group coastwide accommodations in every major city.

ROLAND RICHTER, manager of the Oasis Hotel here, said that the merger would have no effect on the Oasis Hotel other than the switch in status.

"There will be, of course, no management or personnel changes as a result of the move," he said.

"We're sure the merger is going to prove beneficial to all of the hotels involved."

Also included in the deal was Fitchburg Building in San Francisco, location of the Sir Francis Drake Hotel.

Shields explained that the merger was effected "when these corporations grew so rapidly that they couldn't keep pace with it."

"It was felt that one large corporation would be easier to handle," he said.

Marshall suffers 'Slight' Stroke; No Paralysis

FT. BRAGG, N. C. (UPI) — Gen. George C. Marshall suffered what Army doctors called a "mild stroke" before dawn today and was rushed from winter cottage to the Army hospital here.

Doctors treating him said the attack was transitory and did not leave paralysis of any kind. They said the condition of the 78-year-old general and statesman was "satisfactory at this time."

Marshall, World War II Army chief of staff and later secretary of state and defense, fell ill at his home at Pinehurst, N. C.

Great Village Mail Robbery Solved Today

Palm Springs Police Officer Ray Youngberg today cracked the case of the great Village mail robbery.

Youngberg, answering complaints of some 16 North Calle Marcus Road residents, nabbed his quarry after following a trail of wheel tracks leading down two blocks of the street.

Residents told the officer that someone had opened their mail boxes, torn open the letters and then placed the riddled mail back in the boxes.

So Youngberg followed the wheel-track trail. A three-wheeled trail that led to a tricycle and the culprits—a five-year-old boy and his 3½-year-old "partner" in crime.

They hadn't really taken anything, but both youngsters were turned over to their parents. Mom and pop will be the judges and jury in this case.

R-3 Zone Granted By City Council

By a 5-2 vote, City Council last night approved R-3 zoning for the entire northwest corner of Section 26 to R-3 despite an attempt by Councilman Ted McKinney to block the zone change.

The land, owned by Mrs. Merced Samish, is a proposed site of a hotel.

AFTER A LENGTHY discussion on the matter by Planning Director Hy Ranes, McKinney attempted to retain a Planning Commission recommendation to have the entire parcel zoned R-3 except for 160 feet deep along the South Palm Canyon Drive frontage (which was recommended for R-2), by moving the commission recommendation.

It was seconded by Mrs. Ruth Hardy, but failed to pass by a 4-3 vote.

Councilman Leonard Wolf moved the recommendation of the zoning planning director for the zoning of the entire parcel R-3, and on a second by George Beebe, the motion passed by a 5-2 vote.

RANES HAD STOOD with strong conviction concerning the zoning of the land from guest ranch to R-3, and stated that a luxury hotel zone along East Palm Canyon Drive made for good planning.

The applicant for the zone change, Mrs. Samish, has offered the city a 60 foot right-of-way to put East Palm Canyon Drive through in back of the Palm House to intersect with South Palm Canyon Drive, at no cost to the city. The council made this a condition in the resolution of change of zone.

CHARLIE MCCARTHY AND FRIEND EDGAR BERGEN bow into the Chi Chi Starlite Room tonight for what should be a record-breaking run at the Palm Springs. McCarthy, Bergen and McCarthy, the wood-topped wisecracker who came to life when his boss (then a school boy) invested 25 cents in a book on ventriloquism, are hitting a new high in hilarity. The world-famed duo is aided and abetted by Mortimer Snerd, a gap-toothed bumpkin who's the antithesis of everything McCarthy, and comedienne Caroline Richter. Also appearing on the new Starlite bill are the Birk Twins, a pair of look-alikes who stage a startling new kind of acrobatic dancing.

Bright Year for Business Forecast for Next Year

A bright year for business in Palm Springs is forecast by William H. Smith, president of Co-

chella Valley Savings, writing in the current issue of the Savings and Loan Journal, monthly trade publication of the California Savings and Loan League.

In the article, which features comments on general business conditions by savings association executives from throughout California, Smith notes that in spite of the so-called recession, business in Palm Springs went along as usual.

Building in the desert started off with a tremendous boom, and several large building projects have been announced for 1959, including a million-dollar shopping center in the vicinity of our city hall.

Commenting on his own savings and loan business, Smith reports savings volume and loan volume for the first nine months of 1958 showed an increase over the same period in 1957, and, "for the year 1959, indications all point to an increase over the first three quarters of 1958."

The acquisition is subject to the approval of the Interstate Commerce Commission, and application for the approval will be made promptly.

The two companies combined are expected to render an improved service to the public and will expand the volume of business in the highway operations of the American Commercial Barge Line Co.

IN MAKING THE announcement of the sale of Western, the three men stated that if the sale is approved by the Interstate Commerce Commission, it is planned to continue to operate Western in its present form, but it is expected that ultimately the activities of Western and Commercial Carriers will be combined into a single organization. No change in the personnel of either company is presently contemplated.

Dr. Charles Webster, principal of Palm Springs High School, is the only Village administrator advising on the program.

THE SENIOR HIGH students will discuss "Values of Education" in several panels while the junior high group will evaluate "Student Activities."

Registration for the event is to be conducted at 10 a.m., on the day of the event. First session begins at 11 a.m. The conference will last until 4 p.m. A lunch priced at $1.50 will be served for both junior and senior high students in the centrally located cafeteria.

CV Contractors Protest Road Work by County

A complaint by the Coachella Valley Contractors Association against work being done by the county road department in grading and paving of streets for the cities of Indio and Coachella, was received by the Board of Supervisors this week and turned over to the road department.

The contractors maintained that the projects should be put up to public bid by all qualified grading and paving contractors, with the low bidder getting the job.

Supervisor Curtis Chamberlain commented that if county equipment is to be used it should be used by county employees. Supervisor Paul Anderson said an agency within the government that can do it the cheapest should do the work. Road Commissioner A. C. Keith said it is legal for the county to do the work, and is a matter of policy.

C of C Demand On Flooding To Be Studied

A copy of a letter sent by the Palm Springs Chamber of Commerce to Lowell O. Weeks, manager and chief engineer of the Coachella Valley County Water District, regarding the flooding of Indian Avenue and Ramon Road, was received this week by the Board of Supervisors and referred to Administrative Officer Robert T. Andersen.

Jimmy Cooper, CoC manager, said the flooding of the two roads east of the city limits of Palm Springs has resulted in serious damage to pavement. "Both roads are highly traveled," he declared. "I believe that an increasing number of complaints is going to arise and some definite plan must be worked out."

ORDINANCE NO. 407
AN ORDINANCE OF THE CITY OF PALM SPRINGS, CALIFORNIA, CHANGING THE ZONE CLASSIFICATION OF LANDS HEREINAFTER DESCRIBED FROM G-R ZONE DISTRICT TO R-3 ZONE DISTRICT.

BE IT ORDAINED BY THE CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF PALM SPRINGS, CALIFORNIA, AS FOLLOWS:
SECTION 1. A new section 9211.296 is hereby added to Division 9 of the "Palm Springs Ordinance Code," to read as follows:

left, Kiwanis Club program chairman, and Jim Perini, Kiwanis president. On stage, left to right, are Gretchen Stainbrook, Mrs. Doris Stainbrook—who accompanied the girls at the piano; Gus Patzner, head of the music department at the high school and director of the skit; and Patty Patzner. Thomas Mountain Zoning Decision Reached by Board

The Board of Supervisors unanimously supported Supervisor Fred McCall on a motion he made this week that the proposed 15,000-acre zoning plan for the Thomas Mountain area be confined to the Thomas Mountain subdivision plus a W-2 buffer zone 100 feet in depth surrounding the subdivision on the southwest side of the Palms to Pines Highway, and 100-foot in depth across the highway, and with a change in zoning of the back of Jack Corey's property to C-P restricted commercial.

The planning commission which had been asked to re-consider the zoning plan, had asked for a further delay of two weeks. They said they had been informed that Dr. Kolisch who was reported to be opposed to the zoning plan is actually in favor of it and wishes his property to be included, and they wanted time to check the report.

The Desert Sun is an independent newspaper dedicated to truth, accuracy and impartiality in the news; to the progress of the desert region; to the support of that which it believes to be right and to the defeat of that which it believes to be wrong.

Population Increase Survey Shows Need for Speed On New Desert County

Recently completed growth surveys by independent agencies from other areas reveal some almost startling predictions for population gains in the Desert Empire.

As accustomed as we who live here have become to annual increases averaging 20 per cent or more in many localities, it is nonetheless a fact that most local residents have not fully realized that the end result within a comparatively few years will see the City of Palm Springs expand to five or six times its present size and the desert as a whole contain as much as ten times the population of today.

Yet these are the minimum figures forecast in latest surveys based upon carefully gathered and evaluated facts and trends for this region for the period of the next five to ten years.

In view of these certain increases, it becomes additionally clear that a number of changes must be made in local government in the desert region to best meet the needs of the ever larger resident population.

Principal among these is the creation of a new county government within our far reaching district, which already contains almost half of the inhabitants of Riverside County and will in the foreseeable future be the home of 300,000 to 500,000 people.

There is no question about the desirability of creating Desert County or the unanimous support of desert dwellers in the movement. It is merely a matter of leadership, organization and a constructive program to follow in establishing our own county government.

The recent meeting of district leaders which resulted in a decision to reactivate Desert County Inc., as the logical medium for that purpose, is an important first step in the right direction.

We of the Desert Empire want and need a new county. We have the leadership and a specially designed organization to carry on the work of its creation. Once the necessary facts are obtained and the course to follow soundly charted, we will be well on the road to ultimate attainment.

A great deal of time can be saved and success more readily assured by actively joining in the all-out campaign of Desert County Inc.

Look to France

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Our 86th Congress came into being about the same time as the French Fifth Republic. The Congress convened within a day or two of the inauguration of Charles de Gaulle, President of the Republic which he almost single-handedly established. You have to be much better than I am at resisting temptation not to make some fairly obvious and ominous comparisons.

For it's all too plain that 1959 found the United States going down the same hill which France has been trying to climb. The very fact that we have, with addition of Alaska, our "biggest" Congress is disquieting if you care to remember that bigness in nations has more often been fatal than the opposite.

MEANWHILE, FRANCE, with her new constitution, has actually shed some distasteful territory and disoriented peoples from her Union. And while the Federal Government in Washington gets more business (the Federal Aviation Administration is a New Year's baby) and more "coordinators" (Dr. Herbert York is the latest in the field of science), the Fifth Republic is granting home rule to the overseas associates, reducing the power of the central government.

Some 2,000 bills were introduced on the opening day of Congress. Including measures for spending multimillions on scholarships, airports and relocation of industry, all formerly regarded as outside the Federal province. Our superstition concerning our own form of witchcraft (which is what this draft belief in law-making amounts to) was foreseen and dreaded by the Founding Fathers, who believed in as little government and legislation as possible.

IN CONTRAST to American splurging and there-ought-to-be-a-law fixation, the fortunate French have a leader who comes in on the twin keynotes—usterity and verity. It is almost unimaginable that any of our many national candidates for the next year will dare run on a platform of saving till it hurts, of telling the truth even if it is disagreeable.

On the wild possibility that I might be wrong about this, I address such candidates as Rockefeller and Nixon for the Republicans, Kennedy and Stevenson for the Democrats: "Gentlemen, who's for Truth or Consequences in 1960?" Let us pause for the reply.

THE AMERICAN and French Presidents are almost exactly the same age, have the same profession and came into politics for the same purpose—"To clean up the mess."

Perhaps the comparison is too painful for pressing any further than this single point. President Eisenhower is one of the earliest and certainly the most all-out resisters to the ghost-written speech. To hear him at a press conference bravely but hideously mangle the English language and its grammar is explanation enough for Ike's reliance on trained seals.

BUT THE INABILITY of a man to assemble and express his thoughts cannot but raise a question. Does he really have clear or strong opinions? Does he need others not only to marshal the troops of ideas which are necessary to political command but to originate and discipline them?

And if these answers here are what they seem to be, who is running the country and are we, if non-elective officials are running it, any longer a republic? All these misgivings, of course, are old ones. But their formidability and menace show up more starkly here in 1959 with the new President of France as a measuring stick.

DE GAULLE'S MEMOIRS have run in American newspapers, and the book is reaching a wide public. Those who savor the original French far better than I am able to do, tell me that de Gaulle is every bit as eloquent in his language as Sir Winston Churchill is in his. It is no small thing, as World War II proved to the British, to have a leader who is articulate in ideas and masterly in oration.

De Gaulle is already encountering the inevitable resistance to some of his hard proposals, but the gods which love France have given him their gift of language. If France can be saved, this man will do it. In America we have nobody to match him, at least nobody in a top position of government. The ghosted speech, JUNIOR ALSO was sad when informed of Phat's illness, although the night before he had been a little miffed at him. I had informed my 21-month-old son that he no longer could claim top priority in Phat's affection when he was here, and couldn't expect any more chucks from Phat when he came into the office.

"Nnnnnnnnnnn" was his immediate comment, inquiring why.

"Because Phat brought down a picture of his four grandsons to replace the one on the bulletin board of you and Phat and Alice," I replied. "He decided he wasn't being loyal enough to his own family."

Junior had even decided to offer a compromise, replacing his pictures of Tina Schilling, Joyce Weigel and Tina Laine (this acquaintance is very limited) in his room with one of Phat and Alice and himself, if the one on the office bulletin board could remain. STAN DELAPLANE'S Postcard

For reasons too complicated for me to under stand (or even have explained to me), my child is off to boarding school.

It is the same school she goes to all the time—by car pool or by courtesy of your truly, special chauffeur to those who rise too late to catch the car pool.

ANYWAY, IT IS a gloomy, rainy, blowy day. And here my fledgling sits, sewing name tag labels in her Dominican school uniforms.

"Are you sure you have made the correct decision, my dear? Think of the lonely nights. Not to mention the days when all have departed except you. Like young Scrooge."

"I WILL NOT BE lonely," she said. "There are hundreds of boarders. We have keen times. Playing my phonograph—can I borrow your records?—and things like that."

"I am not thinking of your loneliness," I said. "How about me? What if I fall down the stairs with nobody to pick me up? All kinds of things could happen to me."

"Hand me more of those tags," she said with her mouthful of thread. "What could happen to you?"

"WELL, INDIANS could get me," I said sulkily. "Much you would care."

"Don't be silly. There aren't any Indians."

"Maybe there have not been any Indians for a long time. That does not mean they won't come back. Skulking in the brush. Yelling horrid war whoops. Stealing people like me."

"Ha, ha. What would they steal you for?"

"My insurance. They would get my insurance. And you would not get a thin dime."

ANYWAY, I have been reading the Gesell books on children. And find that all 15-year-old girls have a passion for fluttering from the nest.

"The age can only be called 'the 15-year-old slump,'" says the child specialist.

He then gives a list of symptoms. They sound ghastly. But true, so true.

He then gives a list of symptoms. They sound ghastly. But true, so true.

ANYWAY, I have been reading the Gesell books on children. And find that all 15-year-old girls have a passion for fluttering from the nest.

"The 15-year-old child will often come in the house and go to her room without speaking to the family. She truly does not know they are there."

This is right. The doc is on the ball.

I HAVE HAD THIS offspring practically walk through me. Like a sleepwalker.

"Sometimes you will speak to the child and she will not answer. She actually does not hear you."

True, my doctor. Go on, please.

"There are times when the child will make remarks which indicate a train of thought but, of which, you were not aware."

"DO YOU KNOW what?" she said biting of the thread and reaching for another label. "I am going to do something important."

What is that?" I said tensely. I am like spring wire these days.

"I am going to ride an elephant."

"WHERE?" I HAD a picture of this moppet taking off on Nabal's old route over the Alps.

"Where will you ride this elephant?"

"Anywhere. Just sometime. I think about it a lot."

Hmmm. She thinks about it a lot. There is nothing in Gesell about elephants. But I guess you cannot cover everything.

WELL, WE PACKED the child off to school. She intends to come and visit me, she said. Keep a lamb chop in the freezer and keep up the insurance payments.

"It is an age difficult for parents to understand," says Gesell. You ain't just a whistlin' Dixie, Doc.

ANYWAY, I have been reading the Gesell books on children. And find that all 15-year-old girls have a passion for fluttering from the nest.

"The age can only be called 'the 15-year-old slump,'" says the child specialist.

He then gives a list of symptoms. They sound ghastly. But true, so true.

ANYWAY, I have been reading the Gesell books on children. And find that all 15-year-old girls have a passion for fluttering from the nest.

EARL WILSON:

Bob Hope's Brother Phones

NEW YORK—Bob Hope's brother, George, is a writer on the Peter Lind Hayes-Mary Healy TV show. Why he doesn't write for brother Bob you shouldn't ask me, because like a dope, I forgot to ask. George Hope said he's been trying to reach Bob, but can't. "Where is he?" seemed a logical question. "I think Bob heard about an Al. Force private who went A.W.O.L. in Australia," George answered. "And he flew out there to do a special Easter show for him."

More than 2,600 people attended Ohio Gov.-elect Mike DiSalle's recognition dinner in Toledo, before his departure for Columbus. Mike said he'd been given several going away parties before, "but never before was there such a big crowd to make sure I was going."

Mike, born of Italian parents in N.Y.C., confessed that when he started school in Toledo at the age of four he was rejected twice because he couldn't speak English. His parents had kept him at home, afraid of bad associates he'd meet.

"Some of the kids didn't like the way my father cut our hair," he recalled. "He was a good father, but a poor barber."

Toots Shor attended the dinner, and Mike told why he'd invited him: "Previously, when I lost an election, Toots was one of the few who always called. He'd say, 'I figured your line wouldn't be busy.'"

Ella Logan snickered over the item here that George Raft toted a rod in Cuba.

"What!" howled Ella. "Why, George would jump out of his pants if somebody dropped an ash-tray." (Ella suggests that Fidel Castro is in a dilemma: he doesn't know whether to star in Raft's life story — or Errol Flynn's.)

Eddie Condon went to a Hollywood sneak preview—saw some of Hollywood's biggest sneaks . . . Virginia DeLane, the beautiful blonde Boston actress, is going to sue that Detroit hotel, where a rat bit her in the lobby (the hotel's lobby, PULLEASE!) for $1,000,000.

MIKE CONNOLLY:

'Tex' Gets Haircut

HOLLYWOOD — Their chums don't give the marriage of Henry Fonda and the Countess Aldera Franchetti much of a chance—not in view of those public battles they've been staging!

Five-month-old "Tex" Crosby, Bing's bouncing baby boy, got his first haircut. And a very elegant one at that—from Greta Garbo's favorite hair-stylist, Sidney Guilaroff.

SPEAKING OF battles and Bing, Bob Wagner, Bing's co-star in 20th-Fox's "Say One for Me" is battling every day with the director, Frank Tashlin. It all seems to stem from Bob's wife, Natalie Wood, who reportedly has been egging Bob on to demand the Big Star treatment from the studio.

Bing and the third co-star, Debbie Reynolds, have been red-carpeted from their dressing rooms to the soundstage but not Bob, because they're "visiting stars" and the studio is home base for Wagner.

FRANK SINATRA bought a Paul Clements oil from the ever-painting "ever-lovin" spouse of his "Hole in the Head" co-star, Eleanor Parker, and hung it over his bed at home. He not only paid for it, he also ordered a full-scale pinball machine from a Chicago manufacturer and paid retail-AND-freight to have it delivered to Eleanor's children.

Speaking of gambling, Frank is flagging Jack Oakie to play the role of the priest in "Ocean's 11," his movie about a guy named Ocean who hires 11 other guys to help him hold up a Las Vegas gambling resort.

I SENT A telegram congratulating David Niven on being named best actor of the year (in "Separate Tables") by the New York movie critics.

He wrote in reply: "Thanks for the kind words. I'm glad I struck a blow for Hollywood this year because the New York critics have always looked down their newspaper noses at 'Hollywood movie stars.' But this time they've given an acting award to someone who learned what little he knows right here in Hollywood, when I started as an extra!"

JOANNE WOODWARD, Diane Varsi and Dana Wynter are all fighting for the role of the dipso, "Carol," in the movie version of Tennessee Williams' not-so-successful Broadway play, "Orpheus Descending" — opposite Marlon Brando.

Joanne got the jump on the others by flying to Florida to meet Williams, who is trying out another new play of his there. I've been told it's the best female film part since Lauren Bacall bounced on-screen in "To Have and Have Not," asking, "Was ya ever bit by a dead bee?"

NEW EDICT FROM Marlon

She had leaned over to pick up something when this rat sunk its teeth into her finger and held on. A female jury would award her $2,000,000 just not to hear about it . . . Irene Heller (the B.W. of Irving Heller, the fancy-schmancy talker) set him back when she said, "Clothes make the man — and blondes don't do bad, either."

Rita Hayworth's lawyer Bart Crum just got smart and brought some of that Show Biz loot home with him. Landed a $1,000-a-week role in "Young Dr. Malone" for Patricia Bosworth — his beautiful daughter . . . Talk about guts! Vincent Lopez is going to play that new song hit, "It Happened Last Night," on the air three times in one day! Nick Kenny can't understand why it took him 500 songs to write a hit, and me only one. Some people are just naturally slow, Nick—and anyway, I can't write Patty Poems.

Accustomed as I am to public celebrities, I'm always amazed by Steve Allen.

I phoned to check some rumors. His secretary, who'd be seeing him at rehearsals, asked me to give her the questions. Twenty minutes later she phoned.

"Mr. Allen dictated the answers . . . they'll be at your office by cab in 30 minutes." They were. Concerning Polaroid leaving as a sponsor: "They are a seasonal sponsor. Before Christmas, summer vacations, etc. . . they will be back soon."

About a rumor he was going to CBS: "There has been cocktail party conversation between CBS brass and members of my team in debating CBS would be very pleased to have our show. But I am quite happy at NBC."

Regarding a rumble of Jack Paar moving to Sunday night: "For his sake I hope it's true. Three years ago when I dropped the Tonight show, I recommended he replace me. Since he has had such success, it would seem to be only a matter of time until he is offered his own early evening program. I hope the move, if he makes it, is as successful for him as it has been for me."

DEAN MARTIN guested on a local interview show and made some sharp cracks about his wife — so smart that Jean demanded and GOT equal time to answer him! The crack that smarted Jean the most came in reply to interviewer Kendis Rothen's remark: "Dean, your wife is a sharp girl—she's about four miles ahead of you!" To which interviewee Dean replied: "Sharp? Sure — sharp-headed! And if it gets any sharper I'll drive her into the ground head first!"

Wayne (Colt 45) Preston will guest on a Maverick segment with his Warner-TV sidekick, Jim Garner. So you can look for Jim to reciprocate on a Colt show—with Clint Walker and/or Ty Hardin doubling over from the same studio's Cheyenne for some guest-trades too.

DEFENSE DEPARTMENT, anxious to "hip" the public on space-shooting activities whenever possible, is cooperating in the production of Ziv's new Moon Probe series, starring Bill Lundigan. Ziv has plunked $100,000 and three years of research into shot at Edwards Air Force Base, the series to date shows will be shot at Edwards Air Force Base, Calif.

Marge Champion will be taking directions from her husband on CBS-TV's Feb. 28 Pontiac special, "A New Look at Love," two weeks after St. Valentine's Day but still apropos, I guess, no matter what the date! Gower will also be off-camera directing Marge's co-stars, Ginger Rogers, Louis Jourdan, Elaine May and Mike Nichols.

DINNER OR mail your Nurses' Residence Building Fund contribution to the Women's Auxiliary of the Desert Hospital, P. O. Drawer "F", Palm Springs, Calif.

ANY AMOUNT, small or large, will be gratefully appreciated. Your gift is deductible.

EVERY CENT you give stays in Palm Springs for the welfare of everyone in Palm Springs.

NO SALARIES are paid in raising funds for the Nurses' Residence of the Desert Hospital, nor to any of the officers of the Women's Auxiliary.

WHY A NURSES' HOME?

SINCE ITS inception, the Desert Hospital has experienced a housing problem in maintaining a well qualified staff of nurses.

DISTANCE, lack of transportation and rents in relation to the salary of the nurses, have produced this problem, limiting the availability of qualified nurses in Palm Springs and causing changes on the nursing staff.

THE GROWTH of the Desert Hospital, emergencies and an increasing demand for special duty nurses have added to this problem.

A NURSES' residence adjacent to the Hospital will do much to relieve this condition and place the nurses within easy reach, thereby adding to the efficiency of the Hospital.

FOR EVERYONE'S WELFARE

THIS YEAR'S civic project of the Women's Auxiliary of the Desert Hospital is to finance, build and furnish a Nurses' Residence at the Hospital.

IT IS an inspiring civic project dedicated to the well-being of our nurses who dedicate their services to the well-being and life of each one of us, residents and visitors alike, who comprise our Palm Springs Community.

IF YOU or yours have shared the facilities of the Desert Hospital, or any other hospital, you must have a profound understanding and appreciation of the vital importance of the nursing staff.

A NURSE is dedicated to friendliness, tenderness and devotion in the tireless care of your moments of illness and pain.

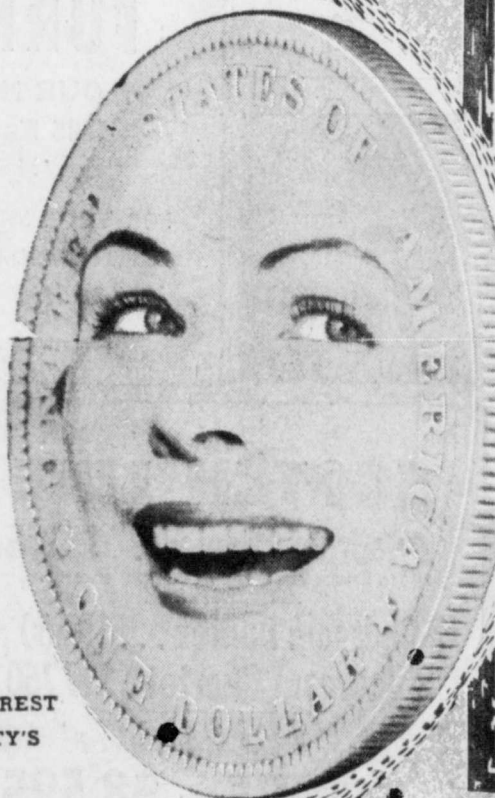

THAT IS her life. It is, therefore, only fitting that her off-duty hours be spent in a comfortable, pleasant and relaxing atmosphere, within the limits of her salary.

TO THIS END and with the civic welfare of the Palm Springs area in mind, the Women's Auxiliary directs its efforts, with the help of your contribution, to the building and furnishing of a Nurses' Residence at the Desert Hospital.

ANCHORAGE, Alaska — UPI —If you're thinking of coming to Alaska to cash in on some of the high wages here, better consider housing costs first. There are some homes for rent, with monthly rents ranging from $150 up.

Helicopter

It will be also valuable commercially. In fact, the current tests here — Amer said Hughes came to Palm Springs because of the ideal weather conditions — are aimed at setting the radical whirlybird approved by the Federal Aeronautics Agency.

YESTERDAY, HUGHES pilot Galt Moore and FAA inspector Joe Ott, garbed in bright orange flight suits, climbed into the picture-windowed "copter and tightened their seat belts.

"They wear orange suits in case they have to land in the desert," said one bystander. "The regular grey or khaki blends right into the desert but the orange stands out like a sore thumb."

The orange stood out like a sore thumb from inside the green helicopter as the two made ready for their take-out.

The big blade and tiny guide prop swung into motion at the same time and Moore slowly brought the Lycoming engine to a full-throated roar.

THE CHOPPER rose six feet into the air, spun on its tail in a 180 degree turn and sped off eastward across the airport. It settled near to the ground about 500 yards away and Amer got busy on the plane-to-ground intercom. Suddenly the helicopter tilted — almost vertically — and stopped in position about 250 feet up.

"They're showing off now," said one bystander. "They must have seen the camera."

Birthday Party Honors Dr. Blackstone

Theming the party to the television program "This Is Your Life," 500 friends, relatives and parishioners gathered in the social hall at Palm Springs Community Church Monday evening for the party which celebrated the 50th birthday of their pastor Dr. James H. Blackstone Jr. The Flagship Mariners were hosts at the big birthday party.

The theme "This Is Your Life" was carried out with a showing of slides picturing his infant and boyhood days in Nanking, China, as well as many scenes in the United States. His parents the Rev. and Mrs. James H. Blackstone were stationed there as missionaries and raised their four children in that country, returning to the United States in 1923. Living in Pasadena, it was not long until James Blackstone met the beautiful young lady, Jean Steffen, who later became his bride. They were married in 1932 in the First Presbyterian Church of Hollywood. Mr. Blackstone had graduated from UCLA in 1931 and then went to Philadelphia where he graduated with high honors from Westminster Theological Seminary. He was then personally invited by Dr. Clarence Macartney to be associated with him in the great First Presbyterian Church of Pittsburgh. After three years there, Mr. Blackstone was called to the Westminster Presbyterian Church of Cedar Rapids, Iowa where he was minister until he entered the Navy and was a Chaplain with the rank of Lieutenant. In 1947 he was called to the Community Church of Palm Springs and it was at this time the degree of Doctor of Divinity was conferred upon him by Whitworth College of Spokane, Washington.

Dr. and Mrs. Blackstone have three children. The eldest is James III who married Kay Burkhardt in the American Church in Paris, France. They have two children. Richard is a student at the American University in Beirut, Lebanon, having been chosen to go there by the Presbyterian Board. Bonnie is a sophomore in Palm Springs High School.

The evening was enhanced by the coming of many of Dr. Blackstone's relatives, among them his father, the Rev. James H. Blackstone Sr., his brother the Rev. William Blackstone, Minister of Missions at the First Presbyterian Church of Hollywood; and two sisters, Mrs. Kenneth Wilson and Mrs. W. Burton Martin. Mrs. Blackstone's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Steffen, were also present. Other members of the family raised the number to seventeen.

The life story was revealed by excellent pictures which were produced under the personal direction of, and presented by Mr. Fay Breinard and Don Cole. The slides and tape recording used in the program were presented to Dr. Blackstone by the Flagship Mariners, and the members of the congregation presented him with a very beautiful Bausch Lomb Automatic Projector.

Entering the social hall the 500 guests viewed the large birthday cake made in the shape of an open book with the title "This Is Your Life" written across the page. A color scheme of gold and red was carried out with gold candles and red roses.

Mrs. Paul Burkholder and her committee were in charge of the beautiful lace-covered refreshment tables. Those serving were members of the Flagship Mariners group.

The interesting evening closed with a long distance call from Beirut, Lebanon made by young Dick Blackstone to congratulate his father.

From Palm Springs to Lebanon the Blackstone family give their lives in devoted service.

THIS IS YOUR LIFE themed the birthday party for Dr. James H. Blackstone Jr. when 500 friends, relatives and parishioners gathered in the social hall of Community Church Monday night. Backstrand Hails Recommendation Removal of all existing, fixed requirements for financial support of California's schools, highways and other activities has been recommended to state legislators by the Assembly's Interim Committee on Governmental Organization, Assemblyman Lee Backstrand reported yesterday.

The 71st District assemblyman said that the recommendations, which followed a two-year program of hearings and study, would place the task of determining the amount of money to be spent on certain activities at the discretion of the legislature.

"If this were done," Backstrand said, "it would restore to the legislature full control over all phases of the state budget."

The assemblyman said in the suggested change a method for eliminating deficit financing of state projects and programs and a return to an annually-balanced budget. If adopted, Backstrand indicated, the proposed change could negate the need for either a tax increase or introduction of new taxes.

Backstrand said that the proposed change would probably be labeled as "idealistic" but indicated that the revision is already developing strong support.

THE ASSEMBLYMAN also noted that the amendment that abolished the "legislative recess" has proved to be a good working rule.

About 200 pieces of legislation have come over the desk in the first week of the '59 legislature, he said.

"During the same period of the 1957 meeting, when the 30-day recess was in effect, almost a thousand measures—five times as many—had been introduced," Backstrand said.

He said the new rule would bring about "more carefully thought-out measures."

NEW LIBRARY TIPS FOR TOTS GIVEN AT WELWOOD MURRAY

By GERRY VANEK

As an author-illustrator, Margot Austin captures her reader's attention coming and going. First her appealing pictures catch your eye, and then the story itself re-uses to let you go!

EFFELI

Effeli, the little elephant, was perfectly happy in his lovely dark green jungle. Then the Big-Game-Hunter caught him and sold him cheap (because he was so little) to the cross Zoo Keeper. With the help of Lollypop, Grandpaw, and sarcastic Lord Horatio Nelson, Effeli began to look at the bright side of things again, though his outlook was slightly distorted due to the fact that he was standing on his head most of the time.

All those friends, all those headstands, and even some help from the Rajah Plumpah of Plumpie (who lived in the Plumpie Palace, were necessary to, finally, free Effeli!

But it got darker and darker in the woods — and, oh, you should have heard all the strange sounding noises that Barney and his dog heard! And then there was a terrible storm. But Barney was brave, as I told you before, so he went right on following those mysterious, big tracks until — You'll be as surprised as he was (and I was) when you find out what was making them!

ARCHIE ANGEL
Archie was really a rather unangelic type of angel. He never wanted to obey any of the heavenly rules about minding manners . . . washing faces . . . combing hair . . . or brushing teeth. One day he said, "I wish I didn't live here." And a dreadful thing happened. Archie got his wish!

Suddenly the saucy little angel found himself in a place where they didn't have rules about behaving, or eating, or anything! But, when he, eventually, got himself back where he belonged, he just couldn't help saying, "This is the way I like it — this is heaven."

And what a happy day it must have been in heaven when Margot Austin's ARCHIE first spied Charles Tazewell's LITTLEST ANGEL! Two more perfect playmates would be hard to picture!

Dear Abby...

DEAR ABBY: We live directly over a woman who needs a keeper. She's on an Old Age pension and spends all her time visiting the neighbors, but not us because she had her TV on very loud one night and my husband asked her if she was deaf and she was. Soon as she gets home she starts pounding on the ceiling. My husband "answers" by pounding on the floor. Then she starts up pounding on the ceiling again, and my husband encourages her by pounding on the floor some more. Thus foolishness is getting me down. My husband doesn't start it, but how can I stop him from answering her? HEADACHE

DEAR HEADACHE: The poor woman is obviously not well and if your husband doesn't realize this, HE needs a keeper. I suspect your husband enjoys this little game because he could put a stop to her pounding by simply ignoring it.

DEAR ABBY: My sister is getting married. She's a Catholic and he's an alcoholic. She is 24 years old, says she loves him and won't listen to anybody. We hate to see her throw her life away on him. Is there any way we can break it up? SISTER

DEAR SISTER: You can't stop a 24-year-old woman from marrying whomever she chooses. If she really loves him she'll introduce him to the "A.A." and let him help himself.

DEAR ABBY: Please don't think I am terrible but I am very much in love with a fellow my age (19) who keeps asking me to "love my love." Miss Abby, I know it is a sin but he keeps after me and I'm afraid if I don't give in or else give him a good reason for refusing to, I'll lose him. Please tell me what to do. A GIRL IN LOVE

DEAR GIRL: Tell him if there is any "love proving" to be done, he should prove H'S by controlling his physical desires until he's able to put your name on a marriage license.

DEAR ABBY: I am a girl who is 5 feet 11 in my stocking feet, and believe me, I've never owned a pair of heels. The man I go with is 5 feet 6 (with built-up shoes and we've taken our share of kidding. He loves to dance and so do I but we avoid dancing in public because everyone laughs when they see us on the floor. I was told by an Arthur Murray teacher that we'd look better together if I led him. We gave that up because he resented it. Should we forego dancing together in public or what? Our love is very strong but I don't want to give him a complex about his size.

DEAR TOO: Let HIM take the lead. If he asks you to dance in public, and you feel like dancing — put your best foot forward!

DEAR ABBY: It's too late for me but if you print my letter it may help other girls from making the same mistake I made. I fell in love at 15. Nobody could talk me out of it, either. The boy was 16. We went steady for two years and did a lot of things we had no business doing. At 17 I thought we had to get married so I quit school and got married in a hurry and then found out we didn't have to. We live with his folks and now he blames me for

"tying him down" but he runs with his buddies while I sit home with his parents. Now I AM pregnant, Abby and am stuck with him. Won't you PLEASE tell girls to LISTEN TO THEIR PARENTS AND NOT TO GO STEADY IN HIGH SCHOOL?

"KNEW IT ALL"

CONFIDENTIAL TO "THE CAT": Some mice will play even when the cat is around so you can't win for losing.

For a personal reply, write to ABBY in care of this paper. Enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Wide Goal Post, New Sub Rules Get NCAA Okeh

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — College football teams were presented today with the opportunity to use specialists for field goal kicking and other chores during the 1959 season on the basis of rule changes made by the NCAA Rules Committee.

The committee, at its concluding session Wednesday of a three-day meeting here, widened the goal post cross bar by 4 feet 10 inches to give field goal kickers a better target, and also loosened up the substitution rule.

The two-point conversion rule, on a run or pass, was left unchanged by the rule-makers.

Coaches at large voted against it at a meeting in Cincinnati, Ohio, last week.

TAMPA, Fla. (UPI)—Betsy Rawls teed off as the favorite today to win the Tampa Women's Open for the fifth time in six years as the country's top female professionals opened their second tourney of the winter tour on the tight Palma Ceia Country Club course.

Bing Nets 6,000 Amateurs

By HAL WOOD

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (UPI) — Bing Crosby said today that his national pro-amateur golf clam-bake, which opens here today, had attracted 6,000 applications from amateurs all over the world.

"It's tough to have to cut 6,000 down to 150 amateurs for this one tournament," said Bing, who won't be playing himself. But what can I do?"

ONE THING BING is doing to help is not playing himself. He says he would rather give his place in the tournament to someone else.

Strict rules are put down for the entrance of the 150 professionals. For instance, all past U. S. Open and P.G.A. champions, the top 60 qualifiers from the last tournament preceding the Crosby event, and the low 25 scorers from last year, are eligible. Bing is allowed to invite 25 more professionals.

BING REPORTS that slightly more than 40 amateurs who competed last year were dropped from the list this year.

Cronin Best Bet For A.L. Leader

CHICAGO (UPI) — Joe Cronin, general manager of the Boston Red Sox, today had the green light as the heir apparent to the office of the American League presidency.

Only one obstacle remained in Cronin's path to succeed Will Harridge as league president — approval of American League owners at a Jan. 31 meeting in New York.

SOLONS TO EXTEND FISH AND GAME SEASON REGULATING

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A bill to extend the right of California's Fish and Game Commission to set hunting and fishing seasons for another two years has been introduced in the Senate by Sen. Charles Brown (D-Shoshone).

The season-setting power, one of the major functions of the commission, would expire at the end of the current fiscal year if the bill were not passed by both houses and signed into law by Gov. Edmund G. Brown.

There was no doubt that it would be approved by the Legislature.

Also introduced in the Assembly was a bill to authorize the Fish and Game Commission to exercise the same regulatory power over commercial fishing it now exercises over sport fishing.

O'MALLEY ANNOUNCED Wednesday that architects would arrive here early next week to start discussions on the ballpark which he hopes to have erected in Chavez Ravine by 1960.

The way was cleared Tuesday for O'Malley to go ahead with plans for the new ball plant when the State Supreme Court rendered a unanimous decision upholding the city's contract which awarded the Dodgers 315 acres in Chavez Ravine. The Dodgers had to turn over Wrigley Field to the city.

"I WILL NOT stand in the way of an American League club coming here," O'Malley said Wednesday.

"I'll even make our stadium available to them," the smiling O'Malley added.

But, in the opinion of Bing, the saturation point has just about been reached.

Smoke Tree Stables and Laurye's Steak Ranch, neck and neck with identical 5-1 records in Municipal Basketball League play, may settle the championship when they meet at 7:30 p.m., tonight, in Palm Springs High School gymnasium.

President of Golf Club Chain Gets Ax

Clair A. Voyant, who rose from caddy to club president because of his uncanny ability to predict weather, received word of his discharge today while inspecting construction of his fabulous El Dorado Palms Estates home, bordering Indian Wells Golf Course.

"For years I've accurately predicted the weather," shrugged Voyant. "Last Sunday the company picnic was rained out . . . You see, my radio broke down on Saturday." Remember . . . you needn't be a corporation wheel to see El Dorado Palms. Simply drive out, or ask your realtor. —Adv.

County Counsel Affirms Election

Supervisor Fred McCall asked County Counsel Ray T. Sullivan, Jr. at this week's session of the Board of Supervisors, for his legal opinion on the "first vote" taken last week for a board chairman.

Replied Sullivan, "The proceeding conducted by the clerk of the board for election of a chairman was correctly conducted. His declaration of the election of Supervisor Paul Anderson was proper and in accordance with the law."

"I'M TALKING about the first vote," insisted McCall referring to the vote on the nomination of Supervisor Curtis Chamberlain on which Chamberlain voted against himself. Supervisor McCall and William Jones voted for him, and Supervisors George Berkey and Paul Anderson passed their vote. Sullivan explained that the law requires that there be a roll call for each candidate, therefore no conclusion could be drawn until a vote had been taken on each of the two nominees. Supervisor Chamberlain on whom there was first a roll call, and Supervisor Anderson on whom a roll call followed. There was not really a "vote," he said, until the roll was called twice.

"WHAT ABOUT the result of a supervisor passing his vote?" asked Supervisor Jones.

"The courts have said in general," replied Sullivan, "that when a member passes his vote he expresses his willingness that the remaining members may determine the issue as far as he is concerned. Also, the Government Code providing for procedure by boards of supervisors, provides that a majority of a board is a quorum, but no act is valid or binding unless the majority of members concur therein. This means that a five-member board cannot act without a vote of three. The roll call on Anderson resulted in three "aye" votes, one of which was his own. He was opposed by McCall and Jones.

GOP Senators Delay Naming Campaign Head

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Senate Republicans today postponed for another week a settlement of their squabble over who will lead their 1960 campaign against the Democrats.

Sen. Styles Bridges (N.H.), GOP Policy Committee chairman, said the postponement came at a meeting of 34 Republican senators. Sen. William Langer (N.D.) objected to immediate consideration of a change in the method of picking the Senatorial Campaign Committee chairman.

PLANNING A "BIG YEAR" for hotel operations in 1959 are Roland Richter, left, manager of the Oasis Hotel here, and Edward E. Carlson, executive vice president of Western Hotels. Richter met with Carlson and other Western Hotels executives in Seattle, Wash., this week to map plans for an "aggressive promotional program" based on forecasts of a "vigorous recovery" from last year's recession. The Seattle meeting was the annual conclave of Western Hotel managers.

County Growth During Year Set At 6.3 Per Cent

With an estimated population of 279,500, Riverside County has surged to 10th place among the state's fastest growing counties.

S. J. Arnold, general manager of the California Taxpayers Association, reported that Riverside County's population increased by 6.3 per cent during the 1958 calendar year.

ESTIMATED POPULATION figures show a growth of 16,500 county residents since Jan. 1, 1958, when estimated figures were 263,000.

In releasing population estimates for California counties, Arnold said "the economic recession of 1958 had little effect upon California's growth."

STATE POPULATION continued to show a healthy gain, he noted, pointing out that California population is now estimated at 14,784,000.

Linville Receives Honor For Ten-Year Research

School Principal Warren Linville was today honored by the American College Personnel Association for his work in research of retarded students.

Linville, 38-year-old principal of Neil'e N. Coffman Junior High School, has been invited to read his research paper at the association's annual March convention in Cleveland, Ohio.

THE PAPER, dealing with suggested methods of aiding the progress of slow learners, was rated as one of the nation's 10 most outstanding educational research studies by the association.

Linville's study concerned youngsters with retarded reading abilities. These pupils, whose standing are below academic averages, are usually a year or more behind the classes in which they are placed.

HOWEVER, LINVILLE'S study disclosed, remedial instruction over a period of six months showed a resultant growth of 1 1/4 years in reading growth.

Linville concluded that such pupils should not be placed in first-year reading classes "until they have reached their reading readiness stage of development." He felt that slow-to-learn pupils should be brought up to a proper level of development before being placed in a class commensurate with their age level.

LINVILLE SUGGESTED that "junior first grade classes" be created for "slow-maturing" children to insure their readiness for normal reading classes.

Some pupils judged to be slow learners, he said, are really of average of better ability.

"But they never achieved reading success because of a reading problem that can seldom be solved without the use of adequate remedial reading techniques," he explained.

Linville, whose study covered a 10-year period, is an instructor in reading improvement for industry at the University of California in addition to his duties as a school principal here.

EARP OUTDRAWS EVERYONE SINCE MIX IN ENGLAND

LONDON (UPI) — Hugh O'Brien, television's Wyatt Earp, has outdrawn every cowboy to come to England since Tom Mix, his managers announced today.

They said O'Brien made his big draw at the box office, pulling in more money at his Western stage show than any other cowboy performer here since Mix appeared more than 30 years ago.
